Use of SVHC substances – REACH Regulation

Dear Customer,

Upon request by the European Commission, the European Chemicals Agency (ECHA) may propose a substance to be identified as a substance of very high concern (SVHC). If the substance is identified as such, it is added to the candidate list, to be possibly included on the list of authorizations (Annex XIV of REACH Regulations).

The inclusion of a substance on the list of candidate substances creates legal obligations for the companies which manufacture, import or use these substances as such, in preparations or in items.

Article 33 of the REACH Regulation foresees that the manufacturers and importers of items (products) must inform their customers of the presence of any extremely problematic substances (SVHCs) in the products, if in a concentration exceeding 0.1% compared to the weight and, in such event, provide instructions on the safe usage of the product.

Acciaieria Arvedi SpA produces and imports products which do not contain SVHCs identified by the ECHA, as shown on the website <https://echa.europa.eu/it/candidate-list-table>, updated at 21/01/2025 (it is to be noticed that only the list of candidate substances published on this website is considered as authentic) in accordance with art. 33 of the REACH Regulation.

Cremona, 29/01/2025

Best regards,
